Step Two

Came to believe that a Power greater than ourselves could restore us to sanity.

Tradition Two

For our group purpose there is but one ultimate authority—a loving God as He may express Himself in our group conscience. Our leaders are but trusted servants; they do not govern.

Concept Two

When, in 1955, the A.A. groups confirmed the permanent charter for their General Service Conference, they thereby delegated to the Conference complete authority for the active maintenance of our world services and thereby made the Conference – excepting for any change in the Twelve Traditions or in Article 12 of the Conference Charter – the actual voice and the effective conscience for our whole Society.

The Shape of Things to Come By Bill W.; February 1961

Best of the Grapevine

The first quarter-century of AA is now history. Our next twenty-five years lie in prospect before us. How, then, can we make the most of this new grant of time?

Perhaps our very first realization should be that we can't stand still. Now that our basic principles seem established, now that our functioning is fairly effective and widespread, it would be temptingly easy to settle down as merely one more useful agency on the world scene. We could conclude that "AA is fine, just the way it is."

Yet how many of us, for example, would presume to declare, "Well, I'm sober and I'm happy. What more can I want, or do? I'm fine the way I am." We know that the price of such self-satisfaction is an inevitable backslide, punctuated at some point by a very rude awakening. We have to grow or else deteriorate. For us, the "status quo" can only be for today, never for tomorrow. Change we must; we cannot stand still.

Just how, then, can AA go on changing for the better? Does this mean that we are to tinker with our basic principles? Should we try to amend our Twelve Steps and Twelve Traditions? Here the answer would seem to be "no." Those twenty-four principles have first liberated us, have then held us in unity and have enabled us to function and to grow as AA members, and as a whole. Of course perfect truth is surely something better understood by God than by any of us. Nevertheless we have come to believe that AA's recovery Steps and Traditions do represent the approximate truths which we need for our particular purpose. The more we practice them, the more we like them. So there is little doubt that AA principles continue to be advocated in the form they stand now.

So then, if our basics are so firmly fixed as all this, what is there left to change or to improve? The answer will immediately occur to us. While we need not alter our truths, we can surely improve their application to ourselves, to AA as a whole, and to our relation with the world around us. We can constantly step up "the practice of these principles in all our affairs."

As we now enter upon the next great phase of AA's life, let us therefore rededicate ourselves to an ever greater responsibility for our general welfare. Let us continue to take our inventory as a fellowship, searching out our flaws and confessing them freely. Let us devote ourselves to the repair of all faulty relations that may exist, whether within or without.

And above all, let us remember that great legion who still suffer from alcoholism and who are still without hope. Let us, at any cost or sacrifice, so improve our communication with all these that they may find what we have found – a new life of freedom under God.

Did You Know?

Promises, Promises

Grapevine, May 1981

I love the so-called promises in the paragraph that begins at bottom of page 83 and continues at the top of page 84 of the Big Book. I frequently quote one or another of them. I often mention them in an AA qualification.

That's why I was pleased recently to receive a scroll containing "The Promises," inscribed in beautiful calligraphy, as a souvenir of an AA dinner I attended. And then, as I admired the scroll, it set me to thinking. We are certainly hearing more about "The Promises" these days. I've seen them printed in AA newsletters and bulletins and AA convention programs. I've heard members ask, "Why doesn't AA offer 'The Promises' as a wall plaque like the Steps and the Traditions? And maybe on a wallet card?"

Is this a trend in our Fellowship – this lifting the promises out of context and inscribing them in bronze? Are we sanctifying the promises?

If so, it troubles me, I view such a trend with alarm. Why?

Because, first of all, if we go back to the source and read the paragraph of the Big Book containing the promises, it is immediately clear that they were not intended to be set apart. They are not written as a separate element as are the Steps (page 59) or the Traditions (beginning page 564).

They are buried in the text (and within the context), and for a reason: They are part of a discussion of how to work the Steps. Not even all the Steps, really, but specifically the first nine. The paragraph in question follows a long description of the mess our alcoholic lives are in and advice on how to work our way out.

Second, these are not unconditional promises as they seem to be when set apart. Quite the contrary. They are a spontaneous, almost euphoric expression of the experiences of the authors with the rewards that can be expected "if we are painstaking about this phase of our development." What phase? The working of the first nine Steps as described in the preceding twenty-four pages!

And how many of us have actually worked the Steps that way? How many of us, for example, in doing our Fourth Step inventory, have followed the example in the Big Book? --a written "grudge list" in three separate columns, analyzing the causes of each resentment and how it affects us. Not I. How many of us took Steps Eight and Nine with the diligence and thoroughness recommended in detail from page 76 to page 83 in the Big Book? Not I. Yet we must recognize that that is what is meant by being "painstaking."

What the Big Book is saying on page 83 is that if we have bared our souls, if we have completely reconstructed our shattered relationships with others, then we "are going to know a new freedom..." then "we will not regret the past," and so on through the rest of the promises. In fact it says "they will always materialize if we work for them" (the italics are mine). And the rest of that chapter is devoted to telling us how to continue to work for them by practicing Steps Ten and Eleven.

Finally, it seems to me that when I quote the promises so glibly and smugly (as I am inclined to do), I may actually be playing down the Steps. Am I glorifying end results while ignoring the footwork necessary to get there? It is easier and more comforting to take refuge in the promises (lifting them out of context, of course) than to go through the purging and the pain of taking the first nine Steps – which are clearly the prerequisites of the promises? The alcoholic seizes upon the promises, consciously or unconsciously, as "an easier, softer way."

So let's read and reread Chapters Five and Six (along with the rest of the Big Book, naturally!) And when we get to the beautiful section on pages 83 and 84, let's cherish the promised rewards set forth there. Let's carry them in our minds and hearts as a joyous and inspiring part of our program of recovery.

But let's not sanctify the promises.

PI/CPC: We Need Your Help-- PI/CPC, is a committee that cannot do its job and be successful without the help of the local Alcoholics Anonymous community. As we in AA know, "Our public relations policy is based on attraction rather than promotion;" and it has "...but one primary purpose-to carry its message to the alcoholic who still suffers." To do this we must be easily found and accessible throughout our communities, therefore, we need to make ourselves known. One of the ways we make ourselves known is by displaying our literature in places where people with alcohol related problems might go. This is where you, meaning any member willing to give a few minutes of their time once a month, can help. We need members to place literature in their local areas. If you are interested in helping please contact Ivo at 916-729-5623 or Chuck at 916-728-1776.

Since November 2005 business meeting I've been investigating the past BTW (over 220 copies) for any Amendments to the By-Laws and Procedures to insure that the documents are up-to-date. These changes will be inserted when we have the information from the BTW. G. PI/CPC – Ivo (email to Beverly C @ Central Office – read by William S):

As stated in the January BTW in order for this committee to function in the manner it should and on the scale of the territory, we need many hands for little effort or work to make things happen. Each community needs someone to place information (brochures) in places that an alcoholic might visit and be able to pick up a suggestion that there is a solution. This can be hospitals waiting rooms, emergency center, libraries, doctor's offices, churches, or anywhere a local member may know about. The information can be mailed to you so you can see it only represents a few minutes each month to keep this up. No special day or time, just to do it. This is called 12-Step work!

The other item is to approve the latest brochure "So, You Wanna Drink?" We need this for the schools. Mid-schools, high schools and JC's. Our Young People's Committee is anxious to get these out.

Anyone interested in attending a PI/CPC meeting, is welcome. Call Ivo at 916.729.5623 or Chuck at 916.728.1776 for directions. We meet the 2nd Wednesday at 7 p.m. Wishing all of us a great year, Ivo V"

H. Special Needs – Camille M: Nothing to report.

I. Buck-of-the-Month (Birthday's) – Jan P:
